I'm 24 years old with the goal to be a 3D modeler.
I decided to take this class as a intro to all things digital.

I built this InDesign Project using the theme of the desert, and idea of the color prism.

Enjoy.

GROWING UP FAST

For my raster project I wanted to go with a contrasting picture of greyscale with red hues. I chose the setting and text because I wanted to show a saying, or a cliche.

Raster Project

When I did the vector project I wanted something simple. At the time I recently discussed puffer fish with another person and the idea was stuck in my head. The sushi chef was a quick addiction for some humor.

Vector Project

For the animation project I wanted to do more than just make movement, I wanted to make a short story. Since I had just finished the vector project I still had fish in my head.

I made a simple choice and showed the life of a worm ending in the mouth of a fish.
